

How does it work?

The DC Network and battery will be installed by qualified electricians using the existing lighting circuit within your home. Your house will not need to be rewired. The batteries will either be installed in the loft or outside your house.