1.0 INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 In order to erect overhead lines or to lay underground cables across land not in WPD's ownership, WPD must obtain the agreement of the owner, and the occupier.
- 1.2 The erection of overhead lines requires, in general, the consent of the Secretary of State for Energy & Climate Change, except in certain circumstances.
- 1.3 The erection of substations does not require the Planning consent of the Local Authority, except in certain circumstances.

2.0 POLICY

- 2.1 It is WPD policy to follow the correct consultation process when seeking to erect overhead lines, lay underground cables and to erect substations, and to consult with Local Authority Planning Officers in all cases where it is thought prudent that they should be consulted, even though consultation is not a legal requirement.
- 2.2 The following Standard Techniques and Policy Documents also include requirements relating to the need to obtain consents and procedures to be followed.
 - ST:EW1A - DECC Consent for Erection of Overhead Lines
 - ST:EW1B - Local Authority Consent for Substations
 - ST:EW1C - Obtaining Landowners and Occupiers Agreement for Overhead Lines and Cables & Dealing with Wayleave Terminations
 - ST:EW1D - Acquisition of Routes and Sites
 - ST:EW1F - Removal of Hedgerows
 - ST:EW1G - Contaminated Land
 - ST:EW1AB - Environmental Impact Assessments
 - ST:EW3B - Work in Protected Areas (AONB's, SSSI's, Monuments, National Trust etc.)
 - POL:GE14 - Access to Railway Infrastructure and Work at Level Crossings
 - POL:GE19 - Works near Watercourses and Flood Defences – Legal Duties to Consult with Environmental Agency
